

RUSS PILOT PICKED UP BY KRASSIN

Ice Breaker Must Re-coal Before Continuing Search

Moscow, July 16—(AP)—The powerful Russian icebreaker Krassin, which rescued seven of the marooned crew of the Italia last week, was pounding its way toward Advent Bay today to fill up her bunkers with coal in preparation for further search for the missing Amundsen party and the six men carried off in the balloon of the Italia on May 25.

The Krassin, at 10 o'clock last night, picked up the Russian pilot Chukhnovsky and his crew of four. The men had been stranded near Cape Platen since July 12 when they made a forced landing after sending out first word of Captains Alberto Mariano and Filippo Zappi, who had been given up for dead.

While Chukhnovsky and his damaged plane were being taken aboard the Krassin, a searching party headed by the Norwegian guide Noiss and three Italians which had been sent from the Braganza to aid the Soviet flier, approached the icebreaker and also was taken aboard.

After coaling at Advent Bay, the nearest port, the Krassin will press its search for the twelve men who are still swallowed up in the Arctic.

RESCUE RUSSIAN FLIER

Moscow, July 16—(AP)—The Russian aviator Chukhnovsky and his four companions, who were marooned by a forced landing near Cape Platen on July 12, were taken aboard the Russian icebreaker Krassin at 10 p. m. Sunday. News of the safety of the party came by radio from Prof. Samoilovitch today.

Aviator Chukhnovsky, who came into prominence early last week by a brilliant air reconnaissance during which he sighted Captains Alberto Mariano and Filippo Zappi, members of the walking party of the Italia, gave the first news to the world of these men who had been given up for dead.

Chukhnovsky was accompanied on the flight by movie operator Blushin and three Russian mechanics, Straude, Shelagin and Aleksey. This group left the Krassin early in the week in search of the Viglietti party stranded off Foy Island. While flying over a region about 20 miles from the Krassin which was pounding its way through the ice, Chukhnovsky saw the Zappi group and immediately notified his base ship.

He circled the little group in search of a landing place, but was unable to find it. He flew back to the Krassin to give a report and then again went out toward the stranded men. On this second flight, he was forced to land near Cape Platen, in the last of Northeast Land, and in the landing damaged his plane.

Undaunted by his own predicament, Chukhnovsky urged the Krassin to press on in the rescue of the two men who, he said, appeared in an exhausted condition.

Chukhnovsky had provisions for two weeks and had equipment to make a safe encampment. Consequently no fear was felt for him and his companions.

With the Chukhnovsky party picked up, there are now only two groups connected with the Italia tragedy definitely unaccounted for. One group consists of the six men who were carried off in the bag of the Italia when it was wrecked last May and the other group consists of the six men in the Amundsen party.

ARMY PLANE IN PLUNGE IN LAKE ST. CLAIR TODAY

Plane Rescued: Pilot Believed To Be Lt. Bradshaw, Missing

Detroit, July 16—(AP)—A Selfridge Field army plane believed to have been piloted by Lieut. Charles E. Bradshaw who is stationed at the field, plunged into Lake St. Clair this morning from a height of about 1,000 feet.

The plane was towed to shore but the body of the pilot was missing. A pilot boat found in the wreckage bore the name of Lieut. Bradshaw and was identified by Col. Charles H. Danforth, commandant at Selfridge Field.

A search of the water for the flier's body was begun. The plane was seen to fall by Stanley Hood, a bather who said the pursuit ship had been circling over the area for sometime when it suddenly plunged into the water.

It was at first believed the plane was piloted by Major Thomas G. Gannier, commanding officer of the first pursuit group but this fear was dispelled when Major Lanphier was found at the field.

Robert Sterling left this afternoon for Springfield, Ill., to attend a meeting of the Board of Pharmacy. Mr. Sterling will be gone until the end of the week.

PREPARING FOR THE ASSEMBLY OPENING, WEEK FROM TODAY

Chautauqu Session of 5 Days Stars on Monday Next

Work of promotion of this year's Chautauqua begins this week, with Secretary of Commerce J. H. Byers taking the place of H. W. Hellerer as Chairman of Publicity Committee. The program opens a week from this afternoon, with the high standard of talent provided the last two years by the Loar Company, and will continue five days, with afternoon and evening sessions.

The committee in charge of ticket sales is composed of Mrs. H. D. Bills, Mrs. H. W. Leydig, Mrs. C. C. Rorick, Miss Bertha Hanes, Phil Kerz, A. E. Marth, L. W. Miller, and B. H. Cleaver, the last-named acting as chairman. Season tickets remain the same price, $2.00 for adults, and $1.00 for children under fifteen years. There will be no reduction this year in the case of Assembly stockholders.

Programs for free distribution and season tickets will be obtainable at the following business houses: Ellis Bros., Geisenheimer's, Miller's Music Store, Trein's Jewelry, and the Schildberg Pharmacy.

Tickets subscribed for last year, at the close of the season, will be delivered this week. It will be remembered that the Loar Company permits exchange of season tickets with the purchaser's immediate family. Single admissions are uniform at fifty cents for each of the ten sessions (25 under 15 years); so that for the ten sessions, the season tickets means an advantage of $3.00. One can miss half the entertainments, and still be profited by use of the season tickets.

Col. W. B. Brinton returned to his home at the Morraine Hotel in Highland Park today after a few days' visit in Dixon.

ITALY JOINS U. S. PLAN TO OUTLAW WAR

Three Great Nations Have Approved Kellogg's Peace Pact

Washington, July 16—(AP)—Secretary Kellogg's proposed treaty for the renunciation of war today bore the approval of three great European nations.

To Germany's unqualified acceptance there was added over the weekend the endorsement of France and Italy, neither nation mentioned any reservations or qualifications. Foreign Minister Briand declared simply that France is "entirely disposed to sign," while Premier Mussolini set forth that Italy "is disposed to proceed" to placing its signature upon the covenant.

Britain-Spain Approve?
To add to the gratification of Washington officials, word was at hand that Great Britain stood ready to approve the treaty and might dispatch a note to that effect some time this week. Spain, too, was said to look favorably upon the American proposal.

The French and Italian notes were made public last night at the state department. In expressing its approval France reviewed the provisions of the treaty and took occasion "to render homage to the generous spirit in which the government of the United States has conceived this new manifestation of human fraternity."

Including Great Britain and Spain replies from eleven countries had yet to be received. A draft of the proposed treaty and Secretary Kellogg's note of interpretation were dispatched on June 23 to fourteen nations, including British Dominions, at the suggestion of the London government and Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Poland at the suggestion of France.

Would Renounce War
Under the proposed treaty, the signatory nations would renounce war as an instrument of national policy and agree to use only pacific means in seeking a solution for whatever disputes might arise between them, regardless of their character or origin, further should the pact be violated, all parties to the covenant would be freed automatically of their obligations thereunder to the treaty-breaking state.

19-YEAR-OLD GIRL MURDERS HER STEP-FATHER, CONFESSES

Her Mother and Uncle Help Her Carry Out Plot

Bismarck, Mo., July 16—(AP)—Ada Biggs, 19 year old high school graduate, was in the county jail at Farmington today after police said she had admitted killing her stepfather, William Silas Simpson, garage owner and mechanic.

With the girl were her mother, Mrs. William Simpson, and an uncle, Oscar Greenwahi, who police said confessed they had loaded and cocked the shotgun with which the girl had shot her stepfather.

The girl who was graduated from the Bismarck high school this spring said she, her mother and uncle had planned for some time to do away with Simpson "to bring peace into the family." County officers would not disclose the nature of the trouble in the Simpson home, but said quarrels had been frequent.

According to stories of the trio, Greenwahi and Mrs. Simpson loaded a shotgun and gave it to the girl. They cocked the weapon because she was unfamiliar with firearms.

Lured Simpson to Window
Ada was then sent outside while Mrs. Simpson and Greenwahi raised a window. They managed to get Simpson unsuspectingly before the open window, where he was shot in the head by his stepdaughter. Four small children of Mrs. Simpson by her present marriage were asleep in the home at the time.

Davenport Officer Dies Of His Wounds

Davenport, Ia., July 16—(AP)—"Bennie" Geertz, Davenport policeman who was shot in a battle with two robbers Friday night when he surprised them as they ransacked the safe in a fuel company office, died at 1 o'clock this morning.

No trace of the robbers has been found.

TROUBLE GETTING JURY

Chicago, July 16—(AP)—Still without the nucleus for a jury after a week's attempt to impanel twelve men to try four boys for the murder of Pearl Eggleston, movie usherette, attorneys for the state began this morning to examine a new venire of 65 men. Progress in selecting a jury thus far has been blocked by opposition of the prospective jurors to capital punishment, which the prosecution demands.

POLICE SEEKING WHOLESALE CAR THIEF IN DIXON

Somebody Had a Car Borrowing Spree Over The Week End

An unknown man, of whom the police have but a meagre description and who apparently has a mania for driving various cars of the better makes, has given the Dixon police force its latest mystery, and today the officers are trying to find some trace of this stranger who Saturday and Sunday night got away with one car, which he wrecked, and tried to take at least five others.

First news of the man's operations reached the police station shortly after midnight Saturday, when Virgil Collins reported that his Pontiac sedan, which he had parked in front of 621 Brinton ave., where he had spent the evening, was gone. He recalled having heard a car started in front of the house at about 11:15, but at the time thought nothing of it.

Ran Into Parked Car
At about the same time the officers received a report that a Ford touring car, parked at the curb the property of Frank Adams of No. Galena ave., had been struck by some unidentified car, the driver of which had gone on without stopping, and while they were investigating that report a Sterling car, containing six young people, drove up to Officers Pomeroy and reported they had been following the car which had struck Adams' machine. They said they were following the wild driver when he struck the Ford, and had chased him all over the south part of the city, finally overtaking him and informing him that he had struck a car and advising him to go back and see about it.

Jumped From Moving Car
The fellow, they said, agreed to do so, turned around and started back to the scene of the accident, but instead of stopping there had driven by, turned east to North Ottawa ave., and then seeing that his pursuers were still on his heels, had jumped from the car while it was running and had disappeared in the darkness. The car, which turned out to be Collins' Pontiac sedan, ran across the curb and sidewalk and came to a halt against a tree, its radiator badly damaged. Adams' car sustained a broken wheel in the initial crash.

From then on reports came a-plenty to the police. Lawrence Tibbets of 621 No. Brinton ave., reported that an attempt had been made to steal his car, the machine having been backed across the curb and abandoned.

Next it was reported that someone had entered the garage at the home of Mahlon Forsyth, 221 E. Chamberlain st., and had attempted to back his auto out.

Sunday evening at 11:30 o'clock a call to the police came from the Alvin Williams home at 811 North Jefferson ave., that an attempt had been made to steal a Hudson coach, the property of Henry Sanders of the Dixon State Hospital, who had been visiting at the Williams home. Arriving there the officers found George Belter's Willys-Knight, which had been taken from his home, 517 No. Hennepin ave., and abandoned near the Williams home.

"Just Resting in Car"
Mr. Sanders reported that emerging from the Williams home he had found a man seated behind the wheel of his car, the stranger having attempted to explain his presence there by asking, "You don't mind me resting in your car, do you?" with which he departed hurriedly in the dark. When Mr. Sanders attempted to start his car he found the starter had been broken.

That was all for the two nights, as far as the police were advised, but they are wondering where the fellow will break loose again, and are at a loss on how to proceed because of the very incomplete descriptions which have been furnished them.

HENRY R. RATHBONE DIED SUDDENLY IN CHICAGO SUNDAY

Member of Congress From Illinois, G. O. P. Nominee, Is Dead

Chicago, July 16—(AP)—Henry R. Rathbone, 57, Illinois Congressman-at-Large and Republican candidate for re-election in November, died in a hospital yesterday following an operation. He had been undergoing treatment for two years for a bladder disease. Ten days ago an operation was performed and he apparently was recovering, until he took a sudden turn for the worse and died a short time later. His widow was at his bedside.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick and Mr. Rathbone were nominated for Congressmen-at-Large in the recent primary. The selection of a successor to Mr. Rathbone for the coming election rests with the Republican state committee, but the belief was expressed today that Congressman Richard Yates who ran third in the primary election would be named to fill the vacancy in the state ticket.

Mr. Rathbone had been a member of Congress since 1922. He was a lawyer of ability and an authority on Lincoln and his home contains many relics of the Martyr President. In Congress he was a champion of child labor, prohibition, farm relief and aviation.

Attended Yale
Mr. Rathbone was born in Washington, D. C., in 1871. After attending Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass., Yale University and Albany Law School, he came to Chicago in 1893.

He finished his law course at the University of Wisconsin and in 1895 was admitted to the bar in Illinois. He was married in 1903 to Laura L. Harney, who survives him. They had no children.

Mr. Rathbone did not enter politics until he ran for Congress in 1922. He won a reputation as a trial lawyer, was president of the Hamilton Club in 1916 and a member of the American, Chicago and Illinois Bar associations.

Aided Mrs. Bell
During his stay in Congress he championed the causes of prohibition, farm relief, a lakes-to-gulf waterway and government encouragement of aviation. He sponsored a bill honoring the army fliers who circled the world in 1924.

One of Mr. Rathbone's last acts in Congress was to obtain the $10,000 insurance award to Mrs. George Bell Jr., widow of the major general, who faced loss of the policy through a technicality. The congressman visited Mrs. Bell at Rockford, took numerous affidavits from friends and introduced a bill in Congress providing for payment of the sum.

Another of his most important activities was promotion of an amendment to the Federal Constitution prohibiting child labor.

Other measures advocated by organized labor also won Mr. Rathbone's support. He favored an anti-injunction bill and was repeatedly endorsed by workingmen's organizations.

News of his death reached the Chicago Federation of Labor at a meeting in Musicians' Hall yesterday. John Fitzpatrick, president, paid a tribute to his memory, and all of the members at the meeting stood for a minute in respect for Mr. Rathbone before they adjourned.

In addition to Mrs. Rathbone, Mr. Rathbone is survived by a brother, Gerald L. Rathbone of San Francisco, a niece, Louise Randolph of Washington, and two nephews, Buckner T. Randolph Jr. of Washington and Richard Harney of Chicago.

ASK INQUIRY INTO ITALIA FATAL TRIP

Storm of Criticism Over Various Aspects of the Affair

Stockholm, July 16—(AP)—Swedish officials today were considering what steps could be taken toward a formal inquiry into General Umberto Nobile's fatal expedition to the North Pole. The newspapers were suggesting a juridical investigation. The newspaper Dagblad printed a report, of which the source was not given, saying that General Nobile "is in fact the Italian government's prisoner as he is forbidden to leave the base ship Citta Di Milano before he has given the world a clear account of the Italia catastrophe and later events."

Swedish flyers in Spitzbergen have been ordered to clear up the mystery of Dr. Finn Malmgren's fate. His Italian companions buried him alive in the ice, but the Admiralty announced it had received no confirmation of the Swedish scientist's death. The search was ordered on the slim chance that he might be alive.

An expert on international law said that it offered no hindrance to a formal inquiry into the Nobile expedition but that difficulties of a political nature might be encountered.

It was pointed out that Dr. Malmgren had been left to perish in a sort of "no man's land" and thus no country would have a clearly-defined right to command an inquiry.

BURY MALMGREN ALIVE
Moscow, July 16—(AP)—Statements by companions of Dr. Finn Malmgren who survived the crash of the dirigible Italia that he was buried alive in a grave of ice caused a storm of criticism in Russia today. A radiogram to Tass, Soviet news agency, from Prof. Samoilovitch, head of the Russian relief expedition aboard the ice breaker Krassin said he asked the Swedish scientist's two rescued companions, Captain Mariano and Zappi, for details of Malmgren's death. He was told how they dug a grave for Malmgren and started over the ice toward safety as he waved them on, crying: "Go, go; at the price of my life you'll save all."

Strong criticism was voiced in the Soviet press not only of burial of Malmgren alive, but also of General Umberto Nobile's being rescued first and the conduct of the Italia expedition.

Told Them To Leave Him
Captains Mariano and Zappi and Dr. Malmgren started from the scene of the crash of the Italia across the ice for land on May 30. In their march they suffered untold privation. For days they drifted on floating ice. Zappi was quoted as saying that several miles southwest of Brok Island Malmgren was unable to march on. He told his two companions to go ahead and take all the provisions, Zappi's account continued:

Dug Him a Grave.

Joseph, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heckman of 304 No. Galena ave., is in the Dixon public hospital receiving treatment for injuries sustained when he was knocked down by an automobile driven by Walter Krug Sunday morning at about 10 o'clock, the accident happening just east of the intersection of No. Galena ave. and Evening St. Mr. Krug watching two children playing near a sandpile, did not see little Joe, and is at a loss to explain now the mishap occurred. At the hospital it was stated that the little victim had suffered a slight concussion of the brain and other bruises, but that apparently no bones had been broken, and he was reported to be resting comfortably.

Two Dixon Teams Defeated Sunday

Dixon baseball fans' attention was divided between two local games Sunday afternoon, in both of which the local aggregations met defeat. The Deer Grove team proved the masters of the J. I. Case Co. sluggers, routing out the blow-makers 9 to 8 in a hard-fought game which was featured by a game of hare and hounds, the hare being the umpire from Deer Grove and the hounds being the fans. A very questionable decision brought about the chase, in which it is said the umpire broke all speed records for this vicinity in getting away from the scene of activities.

In the other local game the West Brooklyn team pounded out a 13 to 10 victory over the Reynolds Wire Co. team in the thirteenth inning.

HOOVER GETS BIG OVATION AT SUPERIOR

Great Parade For G. O. P. Leader Before He Sees Coolidge

Superior, Wis., July 16—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, republican presidential nominee, met President Coolidge at Cedar Island Lodge today for the first time since his nomination by the Kansas City convention.

The nominee went far off the beaten track of his journey to his old home at Palo Alto, Calif., to discuss with Mr. Coolidge his resignation as Secretary and his successor, and to talk over the political situation in general and his acceptance speech in particular.

Greeted by Coolidges

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were met at the lodge by President and Mrs. Coolidge and escorted across the bridge leading to the summer White House, which reposes on a small island in the Brule river, far up in the Wisconsin hills. They spent a short time on the piazza and then left the island to pose for photographers on an adjoining peninsula. Later Mr. Hoover talked with the newspapermen but said he would have nothing to say about politics and issues until after he had delivered his acceptance speech on August 11.

How About the Fish?

"The point of major interest is whether any fish are left in the Brule," Mr. Hoover said with a smile. "I fished up here fifteen years ago, but I wonder whether any trout are left now that the President has been here."

Asked about the farm question, Mr. Hoover said flatly and emphatically that he was not going into that or any other question prior to the opening of the campaign with his first speech at Leland Stanford University stadium next month.

No Flying

The candidate was informed that a new aviation field was being constructed near Palo Alto and was interrogated as to whether he contemplated making use of it during his stay in California.

"I do not," was the emphatic reply.

Mr. Hoover will remain at Cedar Island Lodge until tomorrow afternoon when he will go to Duluth for a reception similar to that he received today on his arrival here where thousands of the townspeople lined the thoroughfare over which his automobile moved from the Chicago & North Western station

TEXAS DEMOCRATS LINE UP TO HELP HOOVER BEAT AL

Drys Are Bolting the Ticket Nominated at Houston

Dallas, Tex., July 16—(AP)—Texas Democratic party bolters today were bolting with a view to effecting an alliance with the state Republican organization before primary balloting July 28. While the week-end brought more names to the roster of Democrats opposed to the election of the New York Governor, candidates for state offices who are aligned with this faction continued to face the prospect of having their names scratched from the primary ballots in several counties. A case intended to test the authority of county executive committees to bar party bolters from the ballots is pending before the court of civil appeals at San Antonio. In this suit, Thomas B. Love, candidate for Lieutenant Governor seeks to compel the executive committee of Ameron county to recognize his candidacy despite his declaration that he would not vote for Governor Smith. With this case pending, Love and others avowed "bone dries" who have successfully sought to instruct the Texas delegation to the Democratic National Convention against Governor Smith, went ahead with plans for an alliance with the Republicans which they hope to perfect at a meeting here tomorrow.

us to dig a grave in the ice and he lay down. Quietly he stretched out his hand bidding us adieu and handing up his compass, requesting us to give it to his mother.

"We plodded on slowly. In 24 hours we were only 100 meters from Malmgren. We saw Malmgren raise his head. Hoping that driven by hunger he would go on with us, we waited. Realizing this, Malmgren cried:

"Go, go. At the price of my life you'll save all."

A mile from Brok Island Mariano became blind. Again they drifted with the ice and during their wanderings they saw six airplanes only about a mile distant but the Soviet flyer Chukhnovsky from the Krassin was the only one to see them.

For twelve days they had not eaten anything. Mariano felt death approaching. He begged Zappi to place his body aboard the Russian plane if the airman should succeed in landing. His ebbing life revived when the Krassin approached to pick them up.

The Krassin then pushed on to rescue the five men commanded by Lieutenant Alfredo Viglieri at the scene of the disaster. The group heard the Krassin's sirens and sighted her shortly after 4:15 p. m. yesterday morning. They radioed their position directing the ship to them. Smoke signals and rockets were sent up by the Viglieri group. Five and a half hours after they had heard the siren they were safe aboard the vessel.

Were Well Equipped.

The Viglieri group was found to be well provided with food and warm clothing. They had three pneumatic boats ready for emergencies such as the breaking up of the ice.

The report received in Stockholm yesterday morning that Roald Amundsen and his five companions had been picked up by the Russian ice breaker Natigun was discredited here. The Malignin has been hampered by fog and ice in her search for the missing men and at noon reported her position but sent no word of sighting any survivors.

The Krassin was balked by fog in its attempt to search for the six men who drifted away in the balloon part of the Italia and the Amundsen party. The vessel today was making its way toward Cape Platen where Chukhnovsky and his four companions have been marooned since they sighted Zappi and Mariano. The Norwegian ice breaker Branzana was also making its way through the ice to them.

HEALTH BETTER THAN FOR YEARS; PRAISES GLY-CAS

Bowels Regulated, Liver Trouble Gone; System Entirely Cleansed of Poisons.

Since its introduction here a few weeks ago, this new vegetable medicinal discovery, Gly-Cas has fairly astonished many suffering and ailing men and women throughout this entire section by relief it has given them from stomach, bowel, blood, nerve troubles, neuritis, rheumatism. On every side now local people are talking about how his new medicine relieves awful gases of the stomach, bowels; bloating, belching, heartburn, headaches, sour burning pain in stomach, chest, throat; breath shortness, agonizing side, back pains, sleeplessness, vomiting from poisonous liver bile; awful catarrhal affections, rheumatism, neuritis—all common, yet distressing ills of the stomach, liver, bowels, blood, nerves.

"I am another of the many local-tyers your medicine has in this locality, because Gly-Cas proved to my entire satisfaction that it can actually do what is claimed for it," Mr. John Meeks, 415 W. Ninth St., Dixon, said a few days ago to the Gly-Cas Man who is at the Campbell's White Cross Pharmacy, this city.

"For years I had taken treatment and used almost every known medicine for bowel and liver trouble, but my condition, nevertheless, remained far from well," continued Mr. Meeks. "Poisons simply clogged my eliminatory organs and my general health had become affected. I suffered from headaches and there was a constant pain in my left side and in my lower bowel. At times my stomach was disordered and I had no appetite."

"I began to hear so much concerning your medicine and finally I thought I would give it a trial. Now, I am one of the many people in this locality who are praising Gly-Cas for what it has done for them. Before I had completed the second box of this medicine I was like a new man. My bowels had been regulated and my liver trouble of these past years eliminated. My system has now been entirely cleansed of the poisons and my health is better than it has been for years before. After all the other medicines had failed, Gly-Cas proved the one medicine to bring me back to a splendid state of health."

The Gly-Cas Man is at the Campbell's White Cross Pharmacy, Dixon, and is daily meeting the public and explaining this amazing new vegetable medicinal discovery. Sold Franklin Grove, C. S. HASSELL WILL REACH ROCKFORD THIS AFTERNOON

Rockford - Stockholm Flier Expects to Leave There on Monday

Detroit, Mich., July 16—(AP)—Bert Hassell, Rockford, Ill., flier, will arrive in his home city some time this afternoon, he announced here this morning. He expected to leave the Stinson Aircraft Company here sometime between 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. and planned to take three and one half hours for the trip.

Hassell has been here four days while his plane, the Greater Rockford, has been overhauled and tested at the Stinson Plant. The plane, he said, is in fine trim and he looked for no difficulty from mechanical trouble. Asked when he would leave Rockford on his Stockholm flight he said it depended entirely upon word from Prof. W. H. Hobbs of the University of Michigan, who is enroute to Mt. Evans Observatory at Greenwood where Hassell will stop before hopping off on his last lap in the flight for Stockholm. He thought this would be not earlier than Sunday.

ing and bells were ringing as the train pulled into the station with a large crowd awaiting.

Large crowds had been awaiting for over one hour, the train bearing Secretary Hoover to Superior. The presidential nominee appeared on the rear platform of his car before the train came to a standstill in the station. Loud acclamation greeted his appearance—coupled with cries of "he will give us the St. Lawrence canal."

Cheer Mrs. Hoover
Mrs. Hoover soon joined her husband on the platform arousing new ovation especially from the large contingent of women in the crowd. The party were first greeted by former Senator Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin, who introduced prominent members of the reception committee. Everett Sanders, Secretary to President Coolidge, and Col. Osmond LaTrobe were on hand to convey to the republican nominee the greeting of Mr. Coolidge.

Secretary Hoover smiled and waved at the crowd which pressed all around the car and prevented him and his party, including Representative and Mrs. Tilson of Connecticut, from alighting onto the platform.

Police Open Lane
Police reinforcements made a way through the crowd and enabled Secretary Hoover and his party to abandon the train. Two bands struck up at this point competing with the applause of the crowd in bidding Mr. Hoover Welcome. Amid this roar the republican nominee was introduced to more members of the reception committee.

In the automobile with Secretary Hoover, as the procession passed through the crowd-lined streets were Mrs. Hoover and Col. LaTrobe, aide to the President. Their machine was followed by one containing Everett Sanders, Secretary to the President, and Mrs. Sanders.

Applauded Along Route
The republican presidential nominee rode in an open car bare-headed despite the unusually warm sun. He was applauded enthusiastically the entire route through the town and responded by waving his straw hat bowing an smiling. Mrs. Hoover seemed to appreciate the reception also, for she smilingly acknowledged the cheers and greetings of the bystanders.

Because of the intensity of the sun and the dust of the country roads a closed car awaited the Secretary at the edge of the city to complete the remainder of the forty-mile drive to Cedar Island lodge.

The parade was headed by the drum corps of the Superior Post of the American Legion, while immediately following the car of Secretary Sanders marched the Superior school boys band. Automobiles containing newspaper correspondents who accompanied Secretary Hoover on the special, together with those who have been assigned to the summer White House, completed the procession.

Banners reading "Superior is for Hoover" and "We're for Hoover" were hung along the route, while the majority of the crowd wore crimson "Hoover for President" badges.

SONNET ON "LINDBERGH" WINS FAME—

(Special from Monitor Bureau)

Washington—Judge by vocation, poet by avocation, is Wendell Phillips Stafford whose sonnet, "Lindbergh," recently received next to the largest number of votes in the fourteenth annual poetry contest under the auspices of the American section of the Poetry Society of Great Britain, in which 600 poems were entered.

The first prize of $100 in the contest for poems about leaders went to Edwin Markham, dean of American poets, for his poem, "The Leader."

When the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia is not in session and when Justice Stafford is not studying cases in his office, he passes much of his time composing verses ranging from patriotic odes to lyrics on the classics. He has published four volumes of poetry, "North Flow-ers," "Dorian Days," "The Land We Love," and "War Poems." He has contributed numerous poems to magazines and for several years has been working on a metrical translation of Dante's "Divine Comedy," which is now about two-thirds completed. Justice Stafford came to Washington from Vermont where he was judge in the Supreme Court of the State.

"There never was before so wide a knowledge of the truth, such capacity for the appreciation of the beautiful in the world at large, so vast and fit an audience for the poet and the seer," says Mr. Stafford.

The sonnet "Lindbergh" was written soon after the flight from New York to Paris, but was not published until the award was made by the Poetry Society.

Justice Stafford's poem follows: Lone eagle of the wild Atlantic plain, Tall, laughing boy with sun-glints in your eyes,

Phyllo-fellow of the lightning and the rain, Co-sentry with old watchers in the skies,

Light-hearted prologue to the epic muse, Glad re-uniter of long-riven parts, Bright Hermes of the nations, bringing news

Of love still flaming in all human hearts! "Do I deserve all this?" Oh, more, far more,

More than the grateful world can ever pay. A fouler fog than hides Newfoundland's shore

Your little bark's propeller whirled away, Fly on, above the mist of sordid things,

Rise, like the sun, with healing in your wings!

Enjoyed Fine Trip Across the Ocean

Mrs. Charles Walgreen, who, with her daughter, left a few days ago on the steamship Mauretania, of the Cunard line for a trip abroad, writes of the trip so far, interesting people aboard ship and fine weather. She says, "The Fourth of July celebration was like New Year's eve at home and today more festivities have been planned to celebrate my birthday. We land tonight at Plymouth, then on to London."

Mrs. Walgreen also speaks in her letter of enjoying the chickens served on the ship, much more, on knowing where they were obtained, the source of supply being the Blackhawk Produce Co. of Dixon.

MENU for the FAMILY

BREAKFAST—Sugared cherries, ready-to-serve cereal, cream, pan-broiled meat cakes, creamed potatoes, pop-overs, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cheese custards, lettuce salad, rye bread, chocolate cookies, fruitade.

DINNER—Meat loaf, horseradish cream, new potatoes in parsley butter, stuffed tomato salad, steamed rhubarb pudding, milk, coffee.

Cheese custard is an unusually nourishing dish. However it's a concentrated food and must be accompanied by plenty of lettuce or some other fresh vegetable which will furnish bulk.

Chocolate cookies are another of the ice-box variety so welcome during the hot weather.

Chocolate Cookies
One-half cup butter, 1½ cups granulated sugar, 2 squares baker's chocolate, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup milk, 2 cups flour.

Cream butter and gradually beat in sugar. Add chocolate melted over hot water, and egg well beaten. Beat well. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder. Add alternately with milk to first mixture. Chill enough to shape into a roll about the size of a rolling pin. Place in the ice box to chill and become firm. Six or eight hours at the least will be needed to stiffen the dough sufficiently, and over-night is better. When ready to bake, cut in thin slices and bake on an oiled and lightly floured cookie sheet in a moderately hot oven.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SULNER

The cutting of Mary Pickford's curls is probably the most significant thing in the day's news from women's viewpoint. For when a Mary whose curls are her livelihood, her stock in trade, her everything, cuts 'em off, it can bear no other interpretation but that short hair has come to stay. Now watch the bobbing business! All the maids and matrons who have been trying to believe for the last year that "long hair's coming back," and have fussed with clips and hairpins and tresses will hie them to the barber shop and be joyous again. For, after all, why and wherefore and of what avail is long hair?

"MIRROR FOR WITCHES"

"A Mirror for Witches" by Esther Forbes is, methinks, one of the most delightful books of the season. It's a warmly human story of a girl who thought, as did everyone else, that she was a witch, and who loved a demon, as she thought, when she was merely loving a mortal man. Esther Forbes tells in delicate vein how easy it is to become what the community or family says one is. Any of us are friends or witches if the public pressure of belief that we are is strong enough.

FIFT AGAIN

There's something about Fifi Stillman's whole-hearted acceptance of life, come what may, that has always intrigued me. A personal scandal that made her and her family affairs grist for the world reading world only left her smiling and today she buys airplanes for other women with the zest of life within them. Too, I like her backing of Thea Raasche.

FIRST FIRST LADY

The impulsive little wave of her hand which Mrs. Calvin Coolidge gave to the post office loiterers at the little hamlet of Brule, Wis., where she went to post some letters is the same little friendly gesture which has made Mrs. Coolidge without a doubt the country's popular first lady. This is because she is First Lady and the tradition toward them all demands much praise. It's because she will go down in history even when she is no longer First Lady and "now it can be told," as a lovely gallant woman.

OUSTED AT LAST!

As she has expected, of course, for several months, Mrs. Helen Tufts Baile of Connecticut, has been expelled from the D. A. R. The charge was "disturbing the harmony of the society." Mrs. Baile has proven herself right along a courageous little old lady who needs no solace. But it may sustain her in her hour of trial and tribulation (?) to know that none of the world's real accomplishments has ever been able to function with in organizations. They would all be found "disturbers of the peace." It's only "yes men" who can be very harmonious within a tight organization.

MRS. WOODROW

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was one of the chief figures at the Democratic National Convention. She dedicated the huge convention hall and was singled out for many honors. It is not only because she is the widow of the Democrat's revered Woodrow Wilson, but because in her own right Mrs. Wilson has a keen grasp of political significances. Other statesmen have left widows who have never been heard of after their husband's deaths.

Short Interviews With Famous Women

By NEA Service

The trend of the times favors the woman jeweler, in the opinion of one of them, Mrs. Abby Prather, designer and specialist in jewels.

"Size and the price of jewels no longer guide woman in selecting her jewels," Mrs. Prather pointed out. "Jewels now must express the personality of the wearer. Therefore subtle and illusive factors enter the choice. This is where the woman jeweler gets her big opportunity."

"This new attitude towards jewels furnishes infinite possibilities in choosing just the right jewels to harmonize with distinct types of beauty. Naturally, a woman has more intuitive sympathy in such matters than a man."

"Every woman should study her dominant color scheme, the note of her personality, her carriage and such details and only wear those jewels which harmonize and best express herself."

"The selection of jewelry is a fine art. A too striking personality can be toned down or a shy and unsunning woman can gain from the right jewelry just the note she needs in self-assertion. In selecting what jewels to wear with different costumes, on different occasions and having them always do something for their wearer, the woman jeweler finds herself at work which she enjoys, therefore does well."

Treatise on Prone Pressure Method Is Of Great Value

COULD YOU SAVE A LIFE?
The old swimmin' hole is at its height of popularity. Scores of people are seeking the cooling streams, rivers, and lakes.

There is nothing quite so refreshing as a plunge into cool water in the good old summer time. It's great sport. But like most sports it has its attendant dangers.

Nearly every day at this season you may read where some life has been lost through mischance in the water. Every boy and girl, every man and woman should know first how to swim; then, how to revive a drowned person. There are only a few simple rules to remember if one would lift himself out of the pitiful class of people who can only stand around helpless when a victim of a swimming hole has been "rescued" only to die on shore for want of breath in caved-in lungs.

The women employees of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company know how to go about reviving a victim of drowning by applying the Prone Pressure Method of Resuscitation or artificial respiration, and they are willing to instruct any individual on organization.

The method is approved by the National Electric Light Association, the Army, the Navy, Red Cross, Mine Rescue Corps, and by leading physicians of the country. It will save a victim of electric shock, drowning, or asphyxiation if anything can save him.

The Prone Pressure Method is the best known means of resuscitation on account of the rapidity with which it can be applied. It has its advantages in that it is immediately available—no apparatus and little exertion is required.

You can learn it in five minutes so that you will never forget. Then practice until you are expert.

The Women's Committee of the Illinois Northern Utilities Company has published a very comprehensive little pamphlet on the Prone Pressure Method of Resuscitation which is fully illustrated and can be had on application at the Company office.

Here with rules and instructions to be followed even if victim appears dead.

ELECTRIC SHOCK—Quickly release victim from current by being careful to avoid receiving the shock. Use any dry non-conductor (rubber gloves, rope, board) to remove either the victim or the conductor. Beware of using metal or any moist material. If both of victim's hands are grasping live conductor and it is necessary to cut a live wire, use an ax or hatchet with a dry wooden handle, turning your face away to protect it from electric flash. If a dry conductor is not nearby, grab part of victim's clothing, if dry, and jerk him from current.

GAS ASPHYXIATION—Quickly remove victim from gas atmosphere into fresh air and place on ground or other hard surface. In gas asphyxiation cases, the assistance of a doctor with an apparatus to remove carbon monoxide from the blood is very important. Do not neglect resuscitation while waiting for the doctor.

DROWNING—Quickly remove victim from water. Raise several times at waist or if possible lay with head slightly lower than rest of body so that water and other liquids will drain from mouth.

START RESUSCITATION AT ONCE EVERY MOMENT OF DELAY IS SERIOUS.

1. Lay the victim face downward, one arm extended forward, the other bent at the elbow. Rest the head in the bend of the arm, the face to one side so that the nose and mouth are free for breathing.

2. Kneel straddling the victim's thighs, the knees the width of the hand below the hip bone.

3. Place the palms of the hands on the small of the back, the little finger touching the lowest rib, the thumb alongside of the fingers; the tips of the fingers just out of sight.

4. With arms straight, swing forward slowly so that the weight of the body is gradually brought to bear on the victim. This operation must not be violent.

The lower part of the chest and also the abdomen are thus compressed, and air is forced out of the lungs.

5. Swing back slowly, removing the pressure.

Through their elasticity, the chest walls expand and the victim's lungs are supplied with fresh air.

6. In repeating this operation, follow the rate of your own deep breathing, swinging back 12 to 15 times a minute.

7. Keep up a steady motion. A good way to do this is to count 5, swing forward on 1, 2-back on 3-and rest on 4, 5.

ASSISTANT SHOULD LOOSEN CLOTHING AND REMOVE FOREIGN SUBSTANCE FROM MOUTH. As soon as artificial respiration is started, and while it is being continued, and assistant should loosen any tight clothing about the victim's neck, chest, or waist. Clear the throat of any foreign substance, such as tobacco, false teeth, or gum by sweeping the finger around the inside of the mouth. If the mouth is shut tight, pay no more attention to it until later. After resuscitation has been carried on for a short time, the jaws will probably relax and then the substance can be removed.

IMPORTANT TO HAVE A DOCTOR BUT TO WAIT FOR ONE MAY MEAN LOSS OF LIFE. If alone with victim do not neglect immediate and continued resuscitation in order to call a doctor; start at once, the first few minutes are valuable. If other persons are present, send one of them for a doctor without a moment's delay.

DO NOT STOP RESUSCITATION UNTIL PATIENT BREATHEES OR RIGOR MORTIS (STIFFENING OF THE BODY) SETS IN. Continue resuscitation if necessary for four hours or longer without interruption, until natural breathing is restored, or until physician declares rigor mortis (stiffening of the body) has set in. If natural breathing stops after being restored, use resuscitation again.

IMPORTANT THINGS TO REMEMBER.

a. Do not give any liquid by mouth until the patient is fully conscious. Place ammonia near the nose, determining safe distance by first trying how near it may be held to your own nose.

b. Give patient fresh air but keep him warm. When patient revives keep him quiet and in a reclining position so that he does not collapse. If doctor has not arrived, give him one teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia in a small glass of water if he can swallow.

c. Carry on resuscitation at closest possible point to the accident. Do not move patient until he is breathing normally without assistance. If absolutely necessary to move, place on a hard surface, such as a door or floor of conveyance. Do not stop or interrupt resuscitation for an instant.

Regardless of one's occupation or position, one can never tell when an emergency may arise and imagine the satisfaction one must feel to have been instrumental in saving the most valuable things in the world—a human life.

Bridge Made Easy

BY W. W. WENTWORTH
Taking Out a No Trump—

We have emphasized the fact that it is worth one trick more to play the hand in a suit than in a no-trump. When you hold a two-suit (that is, two suits each of five or more cards) it is usually more advisable to play the hand in a suit. It is worth about three tricks more to play the hand in one of the suits when holding a two-suit than in a no-trump.

Bearing this in mind, when you hold two five-card suits, take out partner's uncontested no-trump in a suit if:

1.—Both suits are majors.

2.—One suit is a major and the other is a minor with some top strength.

3.—Both suits are minors with both suits containing some top strength.

Bear in mind that in the last analysis the probability of making game and not the chance possibility should be the determining factor in the take-out. If you take out on nothing it may lead to nothing. Your take-out must not be based on whims. If the desire to "show" be present, it must be restrained. The urge to play the hand should not encourage you to make a declaration.

The foregoing is but a guide in taking out a no-trump. It may be epitomized by saying that your take-out should convey clear and definite information. A major take-out should denote strength and a minor take-out general weakness. If your take-out is as changeable as the weather your partner will have to be a mind reader to act intelligently.

A difference of opinion may arise as to the advisability of shading slightly above set forth but this can only be answered by good judgment developed by experience and not by acrimony.

WHAT'S A BELT LINE STEAK?

Governor Smith lost little time in letting the country know how he stands in prohibition. In the next few days, it is said, he will make his position similarly clear on other outstanding issues. But there is one little matter that he cannot elaborate on too soon for us.

The other day, in Albany, reporters asked him what was his favorite dish. The governor remarked that he liked a "belt line steak" about as well as anything.

Now a belt line steak is a mystery to us. Whether it is allied to the tenderloin or to the lowly hamburger is a puzzle. We cannot know just how we stand on this campaign until the matter cleared up. The candidate must declare himself. What, Governor Smith, is a belt line steak?

TERRIBLE THOUGHT.

An obscure paragraph in a newspaper gave us, the other day, a great idea—or, rather, it put into our head the fear that someone else would get the great idea, and act on it.

This paragraph said that bride in the Polish village of Tescoc, obeying the ancient tradition which requires male guests at a wedding to kiss the bride, kissed some 7,000 guests within four hours after her marriage. The dispatch added that this was a world's record.

Undoubtedly. And now that the marathon dances and flag-pole sittings have ended, is there not a great danger that some promoter will see that item and try to find a new champion in our own United States? The imagination reels at the thought.

WHY HE KILLED HER.

A New Jersey man walked into a police station the other day and confessed he had killed his wife.

"Ever since we were married my wife wanted pleasure, pleasure, pleasure," he explained. "She wanted to go to the movies all the time but I could not afford it. She wanted me to go to dances but I don't dance. Today she insisted that I take her to an amusement park, though I told her I had no money for such things."

Doubtless the man's wife may have been a bit insistent. Yet it does seem as if a man could take the trouble to learn a woman's tastes in such matters before he marries her. Once the ceremony is over it is time to make the best of it. Rushing into matrimony on the basis of a passing infatuation, without stopping to learn whether tastes and likes are at all suited, is sure to lead to trouble. It is a bit hard to work up very much sympathy over this wife murderer, even if his complaint is true.

Bedouin bandits in the desert are using automobiles, according to a dispatch from Mecca. Probably copying the Bedouin bandits in the United States.

We shall vote neither for Al Smith nor Herbert Hoover. Neither the Democratic nor Republican platforms promise to place the control of rainfall with the Department of Agriculture.

THE KNYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The funny hippo moved along against a current that was strong. It didn't bother him one bit, cause he was stronger still. The Tinties sat within the seat upon his back. It looked real neat. Said Clowdy, "Everything is fine, as long as we don't spill."

"Oh, I am sure that we're all right. The hunter tied this seat on tight," said Clowdy. Then the happy bunch broke out in merry song. "We're sailing on the hippo's hide and having quite a wondrous ride. We do not have to paddle, but we travel right along."

"It's like a boat, but better still, 'cause this is giving us a thrill. We don't know where we're heading for, and neither do we care. As long as we stay up on top, and do not take a sudden flop, we'll just enjoy this crazy ride, and breath in nice fresh air."

"Hey, that's enough!" one Tiny cried. And soon the happy singing died. The hippo kept on swimming, and the whole bunch took a nap. They slept for about an hour or so. Then Clowdy woke and shouted, "Oh, we're coming to a hanging rope. Perhaps this is a trap."

"Supposing we are caught in it. That won't be fun. I think I'll sit up forward in this little seat and push the rope aside. Then we can slip quite safely through. Now watch, and you'll see what I do."

Then Clowdy found that it was quite a foolish stunt he tried. He grabbed the rope, real brave and bold, and while he had a good firm hold he felt his body rise in air. The hippo slipped away. This gave poor Clowdy quite a scare, 'cause he was hanging in mid air. As soon as he could catch his breath, he shouted, loudly, "Hey!"

(Clowdy is rescued in the next story.)

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE
By Dr. Frank McCoy
"The Fast Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy, Los Angeles specialist, will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Telegraph. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

A SUCCESSFUL LIFE

One who wishes to obtain the keenest enjoyment of life must be well read and thoroughly conversant with all of the affairs of the day. The mind must be constantly alert, but if we wish to obtain the fullest and best expression of our mental faculties, we must possess strong healthy bodies. For the mind, no matter how well developed, can only express itself through the physical organism.

Most people do not develop to their most splendid capabilities. They just "grow up" like Topsy did. They become short or tall, fat or thin, and develop biliousness, anemia, high blood pressure, gout and, in fact, everything from falling hair to fallen arches. One who is in perfect health develops keen faculties.

You would not think of driving your automobile with a dirty windshield through which you could hardly see. Then do not be satisfied with traveling about through life with your senses dulled and clouded by toxins in your body.

When one is in health the palate senses the delicate flavors of delicious foods, while one who is sick will probably be nauseated. All who are healthy are therefore rich because they are able to bring the problems of life to a successful conclusion. They lead happier lives, and in this way they benefit the world because happiness is contagious as well as disease.

In order to explain to you in a very definite way just what I consider a good regime for a successful life I am going to give you some instructions, which, if carefully observed and followed, will undoubtedly be helpful.

Upon arising in the morning, it is a good plan to take about ten minutes time to perform some vigorous calisthenics. Do these exercises before an open window, and then take a cold shower bath after you have become thoroughly warmed with the exercises.

Your breakfast should consist of one or two eggs prepared in any manner except by frying, two or three pieces of Melba toast which is prepared by cutting white bread one-fourth of an inch thick and toasting it in the oven until it is a golden brown all the way through. This toast should not be buttered until it is to be eaten. In addition, you may choose one of the following stewed fruits: prunes, pears, apricots, figs, raisins, peaches, or ripe figs. Use only the pure, sun-dried, unsulphured fruits. An average of five prunes or an equal quantity of the other foods is sufficient to obtain the greatest value. These fruits must be prepared and served without cream or sugar, except the ripe figs on which you may have a little cream, but no sugar.

After eating, it is better to spend a few minutes in relaxation or reading some light literature such as the morning paper. If possible, it is better to have regular hours of work, and one should not be afraid to overwork within definite limited hours.

For luncheon, one may use one or more of the succulent non-starchy vegetables that are so prevalent on the market at the present season. The best of these are celery, asparagus, spinach, small string beans, summer squash, cucumbers, egg plant, beet-tops, small beets, small carrots, small turnips, pumpkin, lettuce, okra, chayotes, oyster plant, kale or zucchini. These vegetables should be cooked in plain water and seasoned only with butter and a little salt after being cooked and when ready to serve. One may also have a choice of any of these vegetables as a raw salad.

Ripe olives and alligator pears, or avocados, make good additions. I do not advise the use of sour salad dressings since they cause gas with most people. One may, however, use a small amount of olive oil if desired.

It is better to do your exercises before eating and relax after eating. Work as hard as you wish during the afternoon, but make it a rule to stop at a definite hour if it is possible. Continued in tomorrow's article.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION — Mary W. writes: "Some time ago I saw advertised in the paper a new electrical device to cure sleeplessness. As I have been suffering from insomnia for quite a while, I would like to know what you think of this, and where I could find it."

ANSWER — Many experimental machines have been devised for use in attempting to induce sleep, but I do not know where any such apparatus is obtainable on the market. The main object is to produce a sort of hypnosis, but you can do this just as well yourself by completely relaxing, and mentally repeating the word "sleep" over and over again. As long as you have no physical irritation which keeps you awake, the repeated suggestion of the word "sleep" or "sleepy" will always get results, and is a sure cure for insomnia.

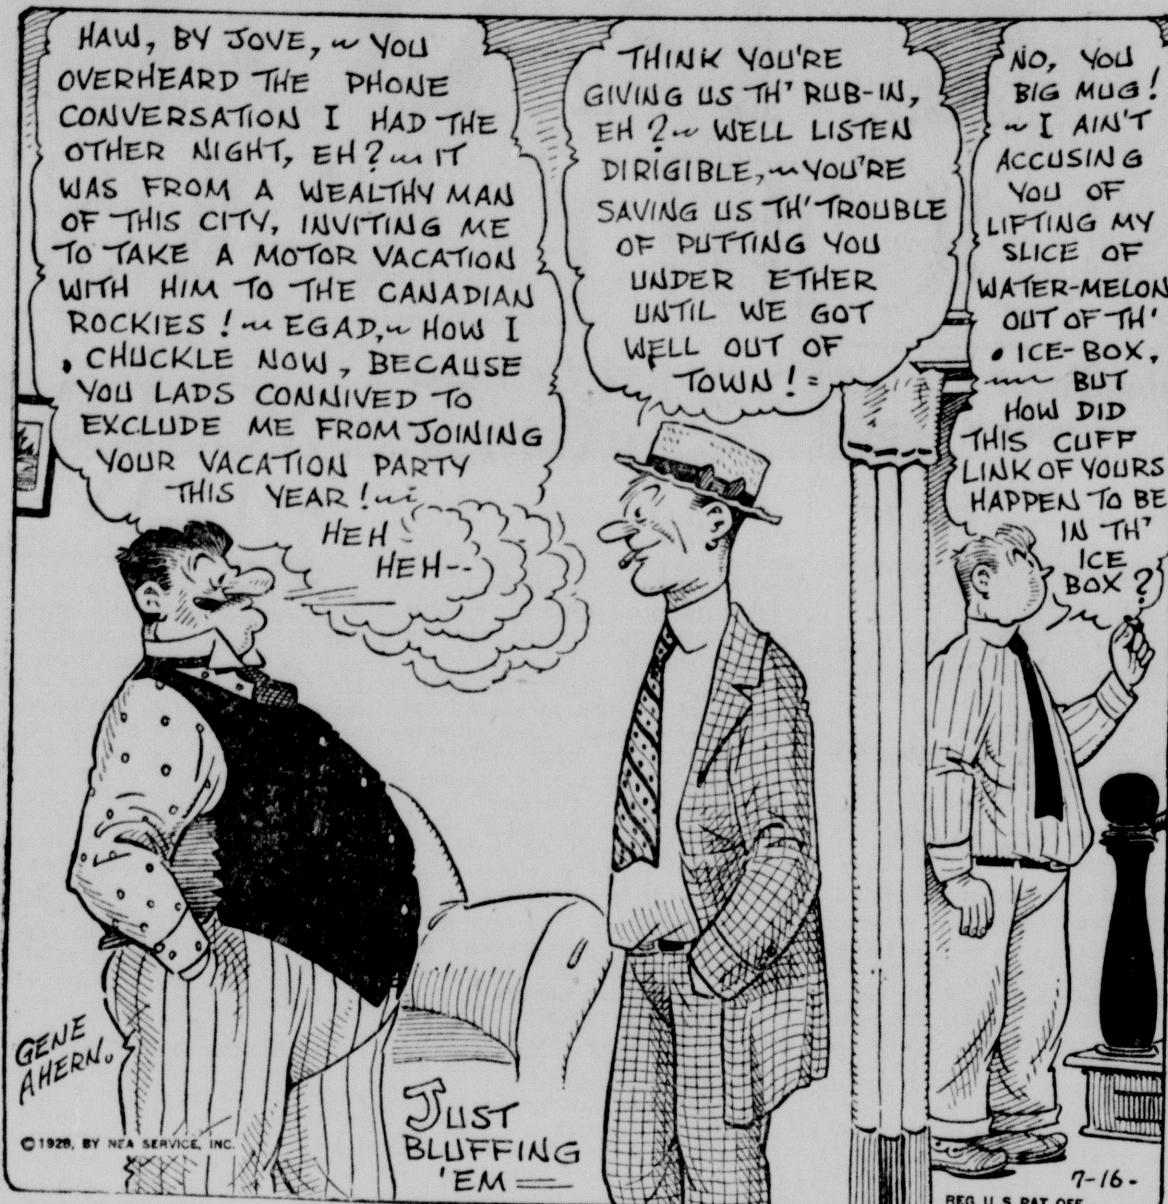

QUESTION — Mrs. G. W. asks: "Will boiling food ten minutes kill botulism is it present? I use the cold pack method of canning string beans, but am always a little afraid to use them afterwards, even though I boil them twenty minutes."

ANSWER — If string beans are canned properly there need be no fear of botulism, as these microorganisms are destroyed if the beans are boiled or steamed long enough. When you open a can of string beans notice if they have a normal odor and even if so, re-boil them for about ten minutes. When there is an unpleasant odor or bubbles, or a discoloration of the can, they might cause botulism and should be discarded.

QUESTION — Mrs. H. G. writes: "We have adopted a child who was born of a consumptive mother. She has many tubercular glands in her neck. Do you think there is any way of preventing consumption in this child? Should we have the glands lanced?

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERNS

ANSWER — Young children frequently have glandular enlargements which are not necessarily tubercular. These can be cured by diet even if they are tubercular. Lancing will only make more trouble, as an added burden is thrown on the other lymphatics.

Contracts for improvement of 30 miles of road in Brooklyn township—22 with gravel and eight with concrete—were let at the office of Co. Supt. of Highway Fred Leake today. The work when completed will leave Brooklyn township with only about 15 miles of dirt road—a remarkable record for a township in which there is no gravel pit.

A LAUNDRING process which is too harsh for your dainty garments is also hard on coarse clothes. The coarse clothes may not show the abuse as quickly, but their life is shortened nevertheless.

The Maytag washes dainty lingerie or coarse grimy work-clothes equally well. The clothes are cleaned by the action of hot, soapy water in a satin-smooth, cast-aluminum tub. It is gentle, but thorough—even the stubborn edge-dirt of collars and cuffs is washed out without hand-rubbing. A big tubful is washed clean in 2 to 7 minutes, an average washing in an hour.

The Roller Water Remover removes both soap and water evenly from all parts of the garment. The large soft top roll working against a hard bottom roll does not harm buttons and buttons do not bite into the rolls. It has a Safety Feed, the drain-board reverses itself, and the tension adjusts itself.

TELEPHONE IS NECESSITY FOR THE MODERN FARMER

(Editorial, Argus, Pleasant Plains, Illinois.)

The telephone as a medium of contact is firmly established on the modern American farm.

The telephone enables the calling of help immediately in case of fire, sickness or sudden accident. In case of breakdown of farm machinery it saves hours, sometimes days, in getting repairs.

Not to be overlooked, is the opportunity the telephone gives for social contact—a few minutes' chat with the nearest neighbor, who may be miles away, or a call to an adjoining state may be accomplished in the same short space of time.

The telephone is not only a convenience—it is a social and economic necessity on the farm as well as in the city.

Aviation is Attractive,
Not to Mention Flyers

Aviation is proving attractive to many people these days, and here's one of the flyers who might be called attractive, too, to put it mildly. Nineteen-year-old Edna Wilson of Wichita, Kan., proves that Kansas has something except wheat to be glorified about.

New Chief of U. S. Fleet

Admiral William V. Pratt is now the "big boss" of Uncle Sam's battle fleet, following his assumption of the role of commander-in-chief in a colorful ceremony on the quarterdeck of the flagship U. S. S. California in Los Angeles harbor. Admiral Pratt succeeds Admiral Louis R. Desteigneur to the supreme command, the latter going to New York to command the Brooklyn navy yard and third naval district. Here is Admiral Pratt reading the orders that give him supreme command and (above) a closeup of him.

A Fur Coat—on the Hoof!

A strange swimming pet attracted attention the other day on the beach at Santa Monica, Calif. It was Billy, a baby seal brought to the strand by Miss Helen Pritchard. Miss Pritchard is shown playing with the potential fur coat.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"LIFE" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, July 15.

The Golden Text was from John 17:3. "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Jesus cried and said, He that believeth on me, believeth not on me, but on him that sent me. I have never spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak. And I know that his commandment is life everlasting" (John 12:44, 49, 50).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook,
"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:
"Life is divine Principle. Mind, Soul, Spirit, Life is without beginning and without end. Eternity, not time, expresses the thought of Life, and time is no part of eternity"
(p. 468).

THREE LOUIS BLERIOTS
ALL AVIATION LEADERS
Paris—(AP)—"The Three Louises" is the name Frenchmen give to the Bleriots, the world's most distinguished aviation family.
Grandfather, father and son, all named Louis, have devoted their lives to the science of flying. Louis Bleriot, the father, was the first to cross the English Channel, achieving the feat in 1909. His son, Louis Jr., hopes to fly from the Azores to New York this summer
the companion of Lucien Boussotrot. They will fly in a Bleriot hydroplane. Grandfather Bleriot, although not a pilot, is considered one of the pioneers of the aviation industry.

The second Bleriot, now 55, is the head of the company which bears his name. He became a celebrity

when he flew across the English Channel July 25, 1909. Great Britain gave him a prize of $5,000 in recognition of his feat, the most spectacular performance of an airplane up to that time.
When Col. Charles Lindbergh landed in Paris, the first aviator he asked to see was Louis Bleriot.

Monsieur Bleriot, II, who saw the tremendous development of air craft during the war, believes that armored air-cruisers are a certainty of the future. They will be able to carry heavy artillery and crews of sufficient size to man the guns, he thinks. He is also hopeful of the future of trans-oceanic passenger air-service, and his company is experimenting with machines capable of making non-stop flights from one hemisphere to the other with a score of passengers.

BRITISH BROADCASTING
EARN $2,000,000 NET
London—(AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation's report for 1927 shows a total income for the year of $4,508,130, of which $4,094,796 was received for licenses. The sum of $2,438,640 was spent on programs.
There were 68,000 hours of transmission during the year with only about 20 hours of breakdown. Music occupied two-thirds of the program.
An increased interest in educational broadcasting is shown, the report says. Four thousand schools were known to listen to London and Dayentry alone—double the number of the previous year—and about 1,500 adult educational bodies co-operated in the distribution of the sessional talks program.

The total number of listeners increased by 217,000 during the year to 2,395,174.
More than 60,000 letters were received from listeners. The government says they keep closely in touch

LOVE FOR TWO

RUTH DEWEY GROVES © 1928 By NEA Service Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

BERTIE LOU WARD, on the eve of her wedding to RODNEY BRYER, feels troubled at receiving a dagger-like paper knife from LILA MARSH, an ex-sweetheart of Rod's. She resolves not to be jealous, but a second blow to her pride comes when she accidentally overhears one of her bridesmaids ask another if she thought the bride liked being second choice.

The pain to her heart vanishes when Rod tells her how much he loves her. They spend an ideal honeymoon and Bertie Lou forgets about Lila until they return and find her playing dictator in their apartment because she "knows what Rod likes."

Too much hospitality in the new home spoils their financial budget. This worries Bertie Lou as she does the persistent annoyance of Lila. So she is happy when Rod accepts a position in New York with TOM FRASER.

Anxious to make a good impression, they go to an expensive re-tel until they can find an apartment. The cost of things amazes Bertie Lou and she is embarrassed when MOLLY FRASER urges her to buy more clothes than she can afford. She is also worried at Rod's playing poker with Tom. After winning some high stakes, he foolishly invites the crowd to a night club. Bertie Lou buys a new evening dress and charges it—against Rod's wishes. Lila arrives at the

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

With Tunney in His Training Camp

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
Nea Service Sports Writer.

Speculator, N. Y.—As Gene Tunney is not contemplating retirement after his coming contest with Tom Heeney for the world's heavyweight championship, neither is he contemplating matrimony, he tells you in one of those moments when he is willing to discuss anything but boxing.

Even some of his little band of intimates thought—and perhaps still think—that he had intended to retire after this next fight, marry and settle down. Giving words to the uncertainty that always attends Tunney Bill Gibson, his manager, said: "You never can tell what the fellow is going to do." And his other friends put it in the same way if not as bluntly in the lingo of the racket.

But Tunney says he is not going to retire and that he has no immediate designs on matrimony.

"I want to get married and establish a home," Tunney said. "But I never am going to marry for a social expediency. I must love the girl I marry and I have yet to meet or see the girl whom I love. I don't know what my ideal girl is. I have some ideas, however, but my demands will not be too exacting. I will know the girl when I meet her and then I will want to marry."

"I want a home. For six years I have been living in hotels, here and there, and one simply cannot live in a hotel. My home has been wherever I happened to hang my hat and it is not a peaceful, a restful or a happy life. Being sort of a public character, I have to be careful in my associations because even the slightest attention that I might show to an eligible young lady is overly publicized, many times to her own humiliation or embarrassment and always to my discomfort."

"I bought a home recently near Greenw., Conn., and almost immediately it was taken as an indication that I was contemplating matrimony and the name of a young lady in the same neighborhood was involved. I had no thought of matrimony when I bought the place. I bought it as an investment, as a prospective home and because I liked it. The house on the property has character and is more than 150 years old. I was not looking for a show-place."

"In my position there are unusual circumstances that have to be considered when any thoughts are given to matrimony. And for this reason I do not believe it would be advisable for me to marry while I am engaged in this profession."

Mention was made at this point of a young man prominent in baseball who, like Tunney, is being criticized for wearing the high hat, for committing social niceties and for marrying himself away from baseball atmosphere.

"I consider that he is one of the finest characters in sports and I like and admire him tremendously. But, if I am not being impertinent and can speak impersonally, I would express the opinion that he married at an inopportune time in his career. His public is almost entirely of and from baseball and his motive was understood to mean that he was repudiating his friends and his fans. My public is more varied and even if I care only for the best element of my patronage and associations I know that I, too, would have to submit to the charge of getting out of my act. It is a penalty of prominence that the prominent character in sports can't live his professional life or his private life in his chosen way. 'Their public,' that the professionals speak about, is cruel and careless."

When he had about expanded himself on all the side topics of conversation, Tunney was asked about his books. He said he was reading only Hazlitt's Essays and that there were no other books around the camp. He refuses to pose for a picture with books because the pictures are used to ridicule him.

"Do you intend to write a book?" he was asked.

"No," he answered, "I have no immediate intentions of writing a book. If I did I would write one exposing the dirt and sordidness of boxing, an inside story of what has been done and what is being done, but I don't think I shall do it."

Olympic Slants

By ALAN J. GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

S. S. President Roosevelt en route to Amsterdam, July 16—(AP)—With Charley Padock's amateur status apparently settled after a blustery week's debate, Lawson Robertson, head coach of the American Olympic track and field team, has mapped definite plans designed to regain Olympic sprint supremacy for the United States.

The last chance of any new development in the California sprinter's status seemingly was dissipated yesterday when the Olympic Committee rejected the appeal of Roland Locks, Matt McGrath, Weems Baskin and Norton Jackson that they be included on the team when the final entries are filed July 19.

It is planned now to adhere to the final selections in each sprint with the maximum of eight in the four hundred meter relay. Tests at Amsterdam, no doubt, will determine which four of the octet will be chosen to run in the relay.

The chief topic of discussion aboard ship became Falt (Chief) Elkins and his chances of becoming one of the four Americans in the decathlon competition at Amsterdam. Elkins, one-time national decathlon champion, was forced out of the final tryouts in the decathlon at Philadelphia when he suffered a leg injury. The Olympic committee ordered him to make a test in several of the decathlon events and a report the results to the committee by radio-gram. If the results are favorable, the committee may place him on the decathlon squad in preference to Tom Churchill, of the University of Oklahoma.

Week-end developments in the Olympic situation in the United States saw four of the New York A. C.'s unofficial "Olympic squad" leave for Europe: Matt McGrath, hammer throwing veteran of five Olympics, decline to make the trip; and Falt Elkins go through two events on the decathlon competition to prove that his injured leg was sound again.

Before he sailed, Elkins ran the 100 meters and did some broad jumping with A. A. U. officials recording his performances. The Chief's record then was radioed to the Olympic committee.

THE CALL OF THE OUTDOORS

HERE AND THERE

Every now and then someone bobs up and asks how it is that those who cry out against distributing the balance of nature still insist on introducing game birds and animals where they never had lived before. But for the activities in disturbing the balance of nature, there never would have been any fishing in New Zealand, which is now an angler's paradise.

Before American rainbow trout were introduced, New Zealand, with all of her wonderful water, offered only the little Maori trout and the eel to the angler. Those were the only fish there. With such magnificent waters, why were there not more fish? That lack of food was not the reason is proven by the fact that the rainbow trout now caught there are the largest in the world. It is due to disturbing the balance of nature.

THE GAR'S TEETH

Anglers in Texas catch the gar by securely fastening many silk threads to the line just above the hook. The strands float around the hook, and when the gar, whose mouth is almost hook-proof, tries to get the bait his teeth become so entangled in the silk threads that he is easily captured.

STRANGE TROUT

A lake in Minnesota was stocked with lake trout, probably the familiar Lake Superior trout or togo, a number of years ago. Nobody ever has been able to catch one since. The trout have flourished, for they can be seen in large schools at spawning time. The lake is small, there seems to be on place for the fish to disappear to. This summer one of the fish was killed, by permission from the fish department, with a rifle.

TAME MOOSE

Last fall a moose walked into a yard of an Oregon farmer and stood there in spite of the appearance of the farmer and his family on the scene. The leg of the moose was found to be broken. This wildcat of wild game animals followed the farmer to the barn. There he remained until a game warden, then a veterinarian, could be summoned. The leg was set, healed; was broken again, set; finally the moose was turned loose three months after he had walked into the yard of the farmer.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

Thanks to Del Bissonette and the Brooklyn Dodgers, the National League pennant race has not yet developed into a runaway affair with the St. Louis Cardinals doing the running and the rest of the field panting along a city block or two to the rear.

The Dodgers in general and M'sieu Bissonette in particular continued to upset the league leaders yesterday for the second successive day, 3 to 1, and the New York Giants, defeating Cincinnati again, moved up to within four and a half games of the Cardinals.

Bissonette has been responsible for most of the misery of Cardinal pitchers the last two days.

Freddy Fitzsimmons won his own game at Cincinnati when he doubled in the eighth inning, scoring Mel Ott the fifth. Ruth now stands fifteen games, 13 days and four home runs ahead of his 1927 record.

The St. Louis Browns found Washington a stubborn foe and the Senators finally yielded in the 12th inning when the Browns pushed across two runs and won, 6 to 4.

INDEPENDENTS IN SECOND WIN: ARE LEADING LEAGUE

Defeated Rockford H. A. C. 8 to 2 on Their Diamond Sunday

By virtue of a fine victory over the Rockford H. A. C. club in their own grounds in the Forest City Sunday afternoon, the Dixon Independents are leading the Blackhawk League with two victories and no defeats. Their position is shared with the Rockford Mutuals, who could not play Sunday because they could not find a park—the League officials having pulled "one" by scheduling both the Rockford H. A. C. and Mutuals to play in Rockford on the same day.

Scores of Sunday's league games were:
Dixon—8, 10, 1; Rockford H. A. C. 2, 4, 3.
Polo—5, 7, 2; Milledgeville—2, 9, 3.
Forreston—14, 22, 1; Shannon—0, 2, 4.
